

Olympia Stadium in 1927, and played there until 1979, when they moved to Joe Louis Arena on Detroit's waterfront. The Detroit Red Wings are known in the NHL, as part of an elite group, "The Original 6". The "Original 6" were the 6 teams in the NHL that played during World War II, when men and finances were devoted to the War effort. Being a part of the "Original 6" has brought much pride and prestige to the Red Wings.

Through their 75 years in Detroit they have earned 9 Stanley Cups, and numerous League Championships. We were most fortunate this last decade to have had a dynasty in Detroit, winning two Stanley Cups and capturing the President's Trophy for winning most games in a season twice, setting a new NHL record, in 1995.

We have had winning seasons and losing seasons, but through it all we have been fortunate to have the Red Wings as a part of our community and I want to thank the Red Wings, and their owner, Mr. Mike Ilitch, for their commitment to Detroit. I want to congratulate them for 75 years in our great city, and I want to wish them luck this year in their quest for the cup. Go Wings!

HONORING ACCESS COMMUNITY
HEALTH AND FAMILY COUN-SELING AND THE COALITION ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

HON. DEBBIE STABENOW

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 11, 2000

Ms. STABENOW. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the mission and accomplishments of the coalition on Domestic Violence on the occasion of their benefit banquet which is being held today at the Bint Jebail Cultural Center in Dearborn, Michigan.

The Coalition on Domestic Violence was formed in 1997 to provide cultural-sensitive services to the community served by the Arab Community Center for Economic and Social Services (ACCESS). Recognizing that domestic violence impacts the very fabric of daily life by impairing the education of children, reducing productivity in the workplace, and denying freedom and security to victims and non-victims alike, ACCESS feels strongly that there needs to be a coordinated community approach to stop the violence. Many organizations including law enforcement, healthcare and educational institutions have pulled together to raise awareness about the problem and develop culturally relevant education programs.

It is certainly appropriate that the Coalition on Domestic Violence chose October, which is Domestic Violence Awareness Month, to host their banquet which is entitled "Facing Domestic Violence: A Community Stands Together." They are featuring presentations by two very well-known women with important and unique perspectives on this issue. Camelia Anwar Sadat, the daughter of the late Egyptian President and Nobel Peace Prize Recipient Anwar Sadat and his first wife, Ekbal, will share her valuable insights as a survivor of domestic violence. Denise Brown, sister of Nicole Brown Simpson, has committed herself to improving the lives of women and children by speaking out on the issue of domestic violence. It is exciting that they will be in Michigan to share their stories.

Domestic violence cuts across ethnic lines, socioeconomic classes and religious backgrounds which makes it essential that we all work together to prevent it from causing more suffering. The Coalition on Domestic Violence is a wonderful example of what can be accomplished through a coordinated effort. I commend them for their excellent work and hope that they have a successful and educational banquet.

TRIBUTE TO HANNA RUBBER COMPANY

HON. KAREN MCCARTHY

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 11, 2000

Ms. MCCARTHY of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to one of Kansas City, Missouri's most successful companies. This year the Hanna Rubber Company will celebrate 75 years as one of the nation's leading distributors of quality industrial rubber products and as a corporate leader in our community.

In 1925, after their service in World War I, brothers J.C. and R.J. Hanna returned home to Kansas City, Missouri. Together the two brothers pooled their savings to form a partnership and a business they named Hanna Rubber Company. The Hanna brothers began their new business to fulfill the demand for fast service on select industrial rubber products. J.C. Hanna, now deceased, once reflected on those days when "we only had one desk, answered the phone ourselves, and R.J. would make up the orders, and I would hop the street cars to make the deliveries."

Today James B. Vandergrift, President of Hanna Rubber Company, is in charge of the operations and success of the Hanna Rubber Company. Under James Vandergrift's tenure with Hanna, he has been responsible for raising the company from the ashes of almost a decade ago when the company's headquarters suffered a three-alarm blaze that left little but a few company records kept in a fire-proof safe. On the very same day of this devastating event, Mr. Vandergrift installed phone lines in the basement of his home and with the help of his staff he was able to keep the company's operations going throughout this ordeal. Due to the extreme damage the facilities suffered, one week later the company would say goodbye to its historic headquarters on Main Street and move into its current offices a few blocks away. The new location would prove to be a blessing in disguise for the company as it provided more space, enabling Hanna Rubber to add new product lines to in turn increase its customer base.

Hanna Rubber has experienced tremendous success since the devastating fire in 1991. In 1999 the company had $8 million dollars in sales, with this year's sales projected to reach $10 million. The company now encompasses a large regional, national, and international customer base which includes clients such as: Hallmark Cards, General Motors, Ford Motor Company, and Trans World Airlines. During recent debates in Congress on trade policy, I was proud to use Hanna Rubber Company as an example of a Midwestern company that has benefited from progressive trade policy initiatives. Hanna Rubber Company's prosperity can be attributed to their standard of excellence in the service they provide their customers, employees, and suppliers. James Vandergrift truly believes that the cultivation of positive people relationships at Hanna Rubber Company has been a key to their past accomplishments and future ambitions.

The founding spirit of the Hanna Brothers continues on today in the hearts and minds of Hanna Rubber Company employees who are dedicated to quality, service, long hours, hard work, and commitment to excellence. Mr. Speaker, please join me in saluting the Hanna Rubber Company for 75 years of service to our community and the world market.
